Poetry Prize

POETRY PAMPHLET COMPETITION

Win £250 and the publication of your poems

In 2011 POETRY WALES welcomes submissions of short poetry collections for this competition, now in its third year.

The winning pamphlet will be published by Seren, one of the UK's leading poetry publishers. Seren poets have won numerous prizes, including:

The Forward Prize for Best First Collection in 2008 and 2010

The Costa Prize for Poetry, 2006 and titles shortlisted for the T.S. Eliot Prize

THE PRIZE

The winner will have their pamphlet published by Seren, and receive a £250 cash prize, 25 complimentary copies of the pamphlet and royalties from sales.

Work will be showcased on the POETRY WALES website and be promoted to print, broadcast and internet media. A taster from the winning collection will be published in POETRY WALES magazine.

CONDITIONS OF ENTRY

The entry fee is £20 for each collection (£15 for POETRY WALES subscribers).

Entries must be in the range of 20-24 poems.

All entries must be submitted by post.

Entries must be anonymous, and accompanied by the entry form, with each page of submitted manuscripts marked with a pen-name and the title of the collection.

Entries must be typewritten / computer generated.

Handwritten entries will not be accepted.

Poems should be suitable for adults
Poetry for children will not be accepted.

Entries must consist of original work, and should not include poems previously published in collections or anthologies.

Terms and conditions can be found on our website:
www.poetrywales.co.uk

Closing Date: Last posting 1 May 2011.

The winner will be announced on June 30, 2011.

The winning pamphlet will be published on October 30, 2011.

SUBSCRIPTION OFFER

Entrants are offered annual subscription to POETRY WALES magazine at the discounted rate of:

£16 UK / £20 Europe / £25 R.O.W.
(usual rate: £20 UK / £25 Europe / £30 R.O.W.)

Founded in 1965, POETRY WALES is a quarterly magazine with an international reputation for excellent poems, features and reviews from Wales and beyond.

Emerging from a rich bilingual culture, POETRY WALES explores the diverse perspectives of Welsh poetry in English and its international relationships.

Its interests in translation, and in local and national identities in a global context, are at the forefront of some of the most exciting developments in poetry today.

POETRY WALES is open to tradition and experiment, publishing poetry from a wide range of approaches. Against this background of dynamic contrast, it offers a lively and informed critical context for the best contemporary poetry.
